2018-2019

Welcome!

The Office of Institutional Research is pleased to present the Kentucky State University Fact Book 2018-2019. This annually produced book is intended to be a useful source of information about the University. The information is provided in the last five-year period, along with the five-year percentage change.

All of the information included in this fact book were obtained as of census date, and retrieved from the University database (Banner). In accordance with KRS 164.250, it is important to make information about the University available to all stakeholders and the general public.

Any comments or suggestions are encouraged to improve future editions. If you are seeking detailed institutional data to support a specific business process or question, please contact the office directly at oire@kysu.edu.

Thank you.

MISSION

Kentucky State University is a public, comprehensive, historically black land-grant university committed to advancing the Commonwealth of Kentucky, enhancing society, and impacting individuals by providing quality teaching with a foundation in liberal studies, scholarly research, and public service to enable productive lives within the diverse global economy.

VISION

Kentucky State University prepares today's students as global citizens, lifelong learners and problem solvers. To accomplish this, Kentucky State University must challenge itself and its students to be the best. It must recognize its strengths, expand and excel. Notwithstanding, it must also welcome change and quality improvement. By doing so, Kentucky State University will gain widespread recognition as one of the region's strongest universities. As a university of distinction, Kentucky State University will create an environment where:

- * Students are first.
- * Diversity is valued, understood and respected.
- * Diverse, motivated and talented students, staff and faculty are actively recruited and retained.
- * An intellectual environment conducive to leadership in teaching, research and community service is encouraged and supported.
- * Effective teaching is promoted both inside and outside the classroom.
- * Students are taught how to obtain, evaluate and use information.
- * Learning is lifelong.
- * Effective and efficient fiscal management by the administration is the norm.
- * Collegiality is the norm, not the exception.
- * Each person is a change agent.
- * Excellence starts with me.

TIMELINE OF KSU HISTORY

- 1886 State Normal School for Colored Persons established by an act of the Kentucky General Assembly with Berea College alumnus John Henry Jackson elected as president. Jackson was the first president of the Kentucky Negro Education Association (KNEA), the representative body for Kentucky's black teachers and a lobbying group for educational issues.
- 1887 Constructed at a cost of $7,000, Recitation Hall—now named Jackson Hall in honor of the school's first president—was the first and now-oldest building on campus. Classes began there on October 11, with three teachers and 55 students enrolled.
- 1890 State Normal School for Colored Persons became a land-grant college and over the next seven years the departments of home economics, agriculture, mechanics were established. The school's first class of five students were graduated the same year.
- 1893 A high school was established.
- 1898 James Edward Givens becomes the school's second president. A Greenwood, Virginia native, Givens was a graduate of Harvard University. His presidency was marked by a significant increase in the school's land holdings, including the purchase of adjoining farmland which would prove critical in the future.
- 1900 James Shelton Hathaway becomes the school's third president. A former schoolteacher and newspaper publisher, Hathaway earned both A.B. and A.M. degrees from Berea College, and an M.D. from Louisville National Medical College. His presidency was marked by significant academic progress and facility improvement at the institution.
- 1902 School's name is changed to Kentucky Normal and Industrial Institute.
- 1907 John Henry Jackson returns as president. During his second term as president, the physical plant was enlarged tenfold and additional land purchases were requested.
- 1908 Hume Hall was built and named in honor of Edgar Enoch Hume, a physician, legislator from Anderson County, Kentucky, and mayor of Frankfort, whose service to the school included political support of its founding and board of trustee service on the school's board for 17 years.
- 1909 Paul William Lawrence Jones established a football team, which began the school's first intercollegiate athletics. Born in 1878 at Mt. Sterling, Kentucky, Jones' more than two-decade-long career at the school began in 1907; he later became a professor of history and academic dean at the school. Having earned the nickname of "Paul" from classmates because of his early love of history and interest in John Paul Jones, he was a 1898 graduate of Kentucky Normal School for Colored Persons, where along with teaching and administrative duties, he also helped form and served as coach and manager of early baseball, football, and track teams at the school, which earned him the title of "Father of Athletics."
- 1910 James Shelton Hathaway returns as president.
- 1912 Green Pickney Russell becomes the school's sixth president. Born in Logan County, Kentucky and educated at Berea College (A.B.; A.M.) and at Wilberforce University (LL.D.), Russell was the first licensed African-American teacher in Lexington, Kentucky—where Russell Elementary School was named in his honor. During this tenure, the institution matured from a vocational school offering secondary education to a four-year college and gained modern fiscal support from the state legislature due to Russell's pursuance of larger instructional programs.

TIMELINE OF KSU HISTORY (continued)

- 1923 Francis Marion Wood becomes the school's seventh president. Having taught in various black schools in Kentucky, Wood worked as principal of Western High School in Paris, Kentucky 12 years before assuming the presidency of his alma mater. A 1901 graduate of the Normal School for Colored Persons where he received his B. PED, Wood later received an A.M. from the Hampton Institute. As the first and only alumnus to become president of Kentucky State, he is credited with moving the school toward true collegiate status.
- 1924 Green Pickney Russell returns as president.
- 1926 School's name is changed to Kentucky State Industrial College for Colored Persons.
- 1929 Rufus Ballard Atwood becomes the school's ninth president. A Kentucky native, Atwood entered Fisk University in 1915 before enlisting in World War I, gallantly serving with the Signal Corps of the all-black 92nd Division and being awarded the Bronze Star for bravery the day before the Armistice. Following his graduation from Fisk in 1920 with a bachelor's degree in biology, Atwood earned another undergraduate degree at Iowa State Agriculture and Mechanical College—now Iowa State University—in 1923. The same year, he accepted a position as professor of agriculture at Prairie View State Normal and Industrial College in Texas—now Prairie View A&M University—before accepting the presidency of Kentucky State College for Colored Persons at just 32 years old. His presidential tenure was marked by transforming the school into a college beyond name only. Having set high standards, Atwood secured the college's accreditation after a mere two years at its helm. In addition to securing campus improvements through the New Deal's Public Works Administration and the Julius Rosenwald Fund, Atwood continued his leadership to enhance both the intellectual and physical environment of Kentucky's only publicly-funded black college throughout his 33-year career as president. School awards its first Bachelor of Arts degrees. Kentucky Hall is constructed.
- 1929 Leoda Lynn of Paducah, Kentucky becomes the first Miss Kentucky State. Born in Paducah, Kentucky where she graduated from Lincoln High School, Lynn was a sophomore in college when her boyfriend and future husband, William Goodwin, encouraged her to enter the new popularity contest that was being held on campus. Goodwin represented her boyfriend's club, A.P.B., a fraternity. After her marriage, Goodwin returned to college and earned her B.A. in mathematics from Kentucky State and her M.A. in education from the University of Kentucky. She was a math teacher at old Dunbar High School and Bryan Station High School in Lexington, Kentucky.
- 1930s This decade was marked by the establishment of black Greek-Letter fraternities and sororities on Kentucky State's campus. The Beta Zeta Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc. was chartered on February 25, 1933. The Beta Mu Chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc. was chartered on April 28, 1933. The Alpha Pi Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc. was chartered on April 30, 1934. The Psi Psi Chapter of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc. was chartered on November 9, 1934. The Xi Lambda Chapter of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Inc. was chartered on February 13, 1935. The Alpha Upsilon Chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity, Inc. was chartered on March 1, 1935. The Eta Alpha Chapter of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc. was chartered on April 20, 1935.
- 1931 School is approved as an "A" class negro college by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.
- 1934, 1935 School's football teams were national champions.
- & 1937

- 1938 School's name is changed to Kentucky State College for Negroes.
- 1948 McCullin Hall built and named in honor of the memory of Lt. James L. McCullin, a Kentucky State graduate of the class of 1942. An Air Medal and Purple Heart recipient, Lt. McCullin, a Tuskegee Airman in the famous 99 Fighter Squadron, was killed in action over Sicily in 1943—making him the first Kentucky State graduate killed in WW2, and one of two of the first black pilots ever to be killed in combat. Neither his aircraft nor remains have been found.
- 1952 School's name is changed to Kentucky State College. George Washington Carver Hall is constructed.
- 1954 Geraldine Ogden becomes the first white student to enroll at Kentucky State College on October 31.
- 1958 Kentucky State College becomes a full member of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.
- 1960 Kentucky State students sit-in as participants in the modern Civil Rights Movement. Paul G. Blazer Library constructed.
- 1962 Carl McClellan Hill becomes the college's tenth president. A nationally-renowned chemistry scholar, Hill received his B.S. from Hampton Institute, an M.S. and a Ph.D. from Cornell University, an I.L.D. from the University of Kentucky and an LL.D. from the University of Louisville. His tenure was marked by the college being raised to university status in 1972. The following year the first graduate students enrolled in Kentucky State University's School of Public Affairs. The addition of four undergraduate departments, a graduate school, and a special African-American Collection to the library occurred during Hill's term as president. Also, major construction and additions to 12 major buildings on campus and the renovation of several others occurred during Hill's presidency.
- 1964 The cross-country team wins the NCAA College Division Championship under the leadership of William Exum.
- 1965 Bradford Hall is constructed. Named in honor of David H. Bradford, who served Kentucky State as a member of the college faculty, head of the Department of History and Political Science, college registrar, and dean of instruction over the course of 33 years.
- 1966 The Special Services and Upward Bound programs begin at Kentucky State.
- 1967 A two-year nursing program is established.
- 1969 & 1970 The Memorial Athletic Complex is constructed and the Jones Field House is added to it the following year.
- 1970 - 1972 The men's basketball team three-peat the NAIA championship.
- 1971 The Carl M. Hill Student Center is constructed.
- 1972 The College is raised to university status and renamed Kentucky State University. Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corp unit begins.
- 1975 William A. Butts becomes eleventh president. A political scientist, Butts received several B.S. degrees from Mississippi Valley State University, an M.A. and a Ph.D. from Southern Illinois University, and an LL.D. from Morehead State University and from Daniel Payne College. His tenure was marked by several major campus facility enhancement projects and the construction of a new academic administration building.
- 1979 Alumni Stadium is constructed.
- 1980 & 1981 Alumni defend Kentucky State from criticism, and ward off attempts to close the institution. They staged a peaceful protest march on the state Capitol. Kentucky State University enhancement plan is developed.

- 1981 The Kentucky State women's basketball team wins the first NAIA Women's Basketball Title in 1981. The team defeated Texas Southern University 73-67 for the championship in Kansas City, Missouri. The team members included Carolyn Walker, the tournament's most valuable player and was named First Team All-Tournament, Pam King, who was named Second Team All-Tournament; and Angelia Barnett was named Second Team All-Tournament. Other team members included Paula Jennels, Felicia Jordan, Darlene Brown and Rhonda Beauford. The team was initially coached by Cornieth Y. Russell, then replaced by Ron Mitchell, who was also the school's athletic director, who was named NAIA Coach of the Year after the tournament.
- 1982 Raymond A. Burse named twelfth president. A native of Hopkinsville, Kentucky, Burse received a bachelor's degree in chemistry and mathematics from Centre College and a law degree from Harvard University. His tenure was marked by record enrollment, more than $60 million in capital improvements, and significant enhancements in the academic and financial operations of the institution-including the establishment of the Whitney M. Young College of Leadership Studies in 1983.
- 1986 The University celebrated its centennial anniversary and purchased the Research and Demonstration Farm.
- 1990 John T. Wolfe Jr. named thirteenth president. Wolfe received a bachelor's degree in English education from Chicago State University, a master's degree in English education and a doctoral degree in linguistics from Purdue University. His tenure was marked by strong support of the Paul G. Blazer Library and he was responsible for significantly increasing the number of library positions at the school.
- 1991 Mary L. Smith named fourteenth president and first woman president. She had most immediately served as Kentucky State University's vice-president for academic affairs. Smith completed her graduate study at the University of Kentucky where she earned a Master of Arts and a Doctor of Education degree in curriculum and instruction. Her tenure was marked by the initial accreditation of the master's degree in public administration she spearheaded the establishment of the Center of Excellence for the Study of Kentucky African-Americans (CESKAA).
- 1992 William Exum Athletic Center built. Born in Illinois, William Exum was the first African-American varsity football player at the University of Wisconsin where he was both an outstanding track star and student and completed his bachelor's, master's and doctorate degrees. In 1949, Exum was hired as head of the Kentucky State's physical education department and later was made head of the athletics department, sometimes coaching various sports teams. In addition to coaching the Kentucky State men's cross country team to an NCAA Division II championship in 1964, he was the manager of the United States Track and Field teams at the 1972 and 1976 Olympics. Inducted into the National Association of College Directors of Athletics Hall of Fame in 1978, Exum retired from Kentucky State in 1980.
- 1993 Cooperative Extension Building built. This 25,000 square foot building houses five conference rooms and a demonstration kitchen with satellite downlink capabilities; video production and print studios; and 27 offices.
- 1998 George W. Reid named fifteenth president. During his tenure as president, the Council on Postsecondary Education approved the creation of Kentucky State University's first Program of Distinction, an honor that was given to the Aquaculture program. A new master's degree program in that area, entitled Aquaculture/Aquatic Sciences, was also approved by CPE.

- 1998 Whitney M. Young Jr. statue erected at the front entrance of campus. A native of Shelbyville, Kentucky, Whitney Moore Young Jr. was an American civil rights leader. He spent most of his career working to end employment discrimination in the United States and turning the National Urban League from a relatively passive civil rights organization into one that aggressively worked for equitable access to socioeconomic opportunity for the historically disenfranchised. The sculptor of the statue is another Kentucky State alumnus and fellow member of the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Ed Hamilton, who is best known for his statue, Spirit of Freedom, an African-American Civil War Memorial in Washington D.C. Hamilton, who was familiar with Young's role in the struggle for civil rights and was honored to be able to bring Young back to life and return him to the Kentucky State campus. Hamilton wanted to show Young in an attitude of welcome, which is why he sculpted him with his hand extended.
- 1998 & 2000 Kentucky State's golf teams won the National Minority Intercollegiate Golf Championship.
- 1999 Aquaculture became Kentucky State's program of distinction. Initiated in the mid-1980s, the Division of Aquaculture was originally exclusively dedicated to research and extension activities. Expanded via experimental course offerings, and later with an undergraduate minor in Aquaculture/Aquatic Science, the Council on Post secondary Education approved Kentucky State to offer a Master of Science in Aquaculture/Aquatic Science in 1999. The program addresses all three of the traditional land-grant university roles: research, teaching, and extension and the Division has class offerings over the full spectrum of aquaculture, including reproduction, nutrition, water quality, physiology, production systems, economics and marketing, and fish disease.
- Chappell Building built, named in honor of Roy M. Chappell. A Tuskegee Airman, Chappell was born in Williamsburg, Kentucky. Chappell attended Kentucky State College, where he majored in chemistry before leaving his junior year to join the service during World War II. His aviation career began when he was a volunteer with the 477th Bombardment Group, and he later served at Godman Field at Fort Knox, Kentucky. He participated in the Freedman Field Mutiny when 104 African-American officers protested for equal treatment in the military. After his military service, Chappell settled in Chicago, graduated from Roosevelt College—now Roosevelt University—and taught elementary school for 30 years.
- 2004 Mary Evans Sias named sixteenth president. A native of Jackson, Mississippi, Sias graduated cum laude from Tougaloo College, and earned her Master of Science degree and Ph.D. in sociology from the University of Wisconsin at Madison. She also holds an M.B.A. degree in management at Abilene Christian College of Dallas. Sias' tenure as president was marked by strong support of salary adjustments for faculty and staff, increased funding for the school and the launch of its first capital campaign. Kentucky State also experienced new program development, including new graduate programs in business administration, environmental studies, computer science technology and special education.
- 2005 Kentucky State purchased 320 acres in Henry County for its Environmental Education Center.
- 2007 The School of Education introduced the Master of Special Education, Kentucky State's first completely online academic program.
- 2008 The new Whitney M. Young Jr. Residence Hall was built. The former Young Hall was renamed The Halls.
- 2009 Kentucky State's university-wide accreditation reaffirmed by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

2010 School of Business accreditation reaffirmed.

Center for Sustainability of Farms and Families built.

2011 College of Agriculture, Food Science and Sustainable Systems established. It is comprised of five departments: Agriculture & Natural Resources, Aquaculture, Environmental Studies & Sustainable Systems, Food & Animal Science, and Family & Consumer Science.

Groundbreaking held for the Dr. Henry E. Cheaney Legacy Plaza. Born in Henderson, Kentucky, Cheaney received his undergraduate degree from Kentucky State in 1936, his master's degree in history from the University of Michigan in 1941, and his Ph.D. in history from the University of Chicago in 1961. Cheaney was a leading authority on the history of African-Americans in the Commonwealth, who retired from Kentucky State following a 46-year career as a professor. Credited for establishing the university's African-American history collection, his personal collection was used for the writing of the two-volume history of Blacks in Kentucky. A founding member of the Xi Lambda Chapter of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity Incorporated at Kentucky State, Cheaney also served as boxing coach.

2013 Rosenwald Center for Families and Children opened.

2014 Raymond M. Burse named 17th president.

2015 The university's 300-acre farm named Harold R. Benson Research and Demonstration Farm in honor of pioneering 1890 Land-Grant administrator Harold R. Benson. His 36-year career as the longest-tenured land-grant administrator began at Kentucky State in 1975. Added to these duties was direction of the Extension Program from 1975 to 2011, and the research program from 1985 to 2011. Despite moving nine times, the once-dormant Land Grant Program was resurrected under his leadership. Benson also created the Aquaculture Research Program, established the university's 300-acre research and demonstration farm, worked to renovate the historic Atwood building into the Atwood Research Facility, and directed efforts to build and design the Cooperative Extension Building. In the process of doing so, he revolutionized the agriculture research and education programs at Kentucky State University.

2017 M. Christopher Brown II named eighteenth president. Brown has a Ph.D. in higher education from The Pennsylvania State University, a M.S. in education from the University of Kentucky, and a B.S. in elementary education from South Carolina State University. Brown has set a bold agenda to move Kentucky State University forward. Building its future on the four pillars of success—access, academics, agriculture and athletics—President Brown's priorities include accreditation and accountability, responding to a shifting marketplace, academic alignment for sustainability, and fiscal health and vitality. In keeping with this vision, Brown founds the Atwood Institute for Race, Education, and the Democratic Ideal; its work is a tripartite mission to honor diverse experiences, dismantle negative stereotypes, and train emergent leaders.

Kentucky State conferred its first doctoral degrees with the inaugural graduating class of Doctor of Nursing Practice (DNP).

2018 The Presidential Green Ribbon Commission on Academic Prioritization and Budget Alignment conducted a comprehensive academic program review.

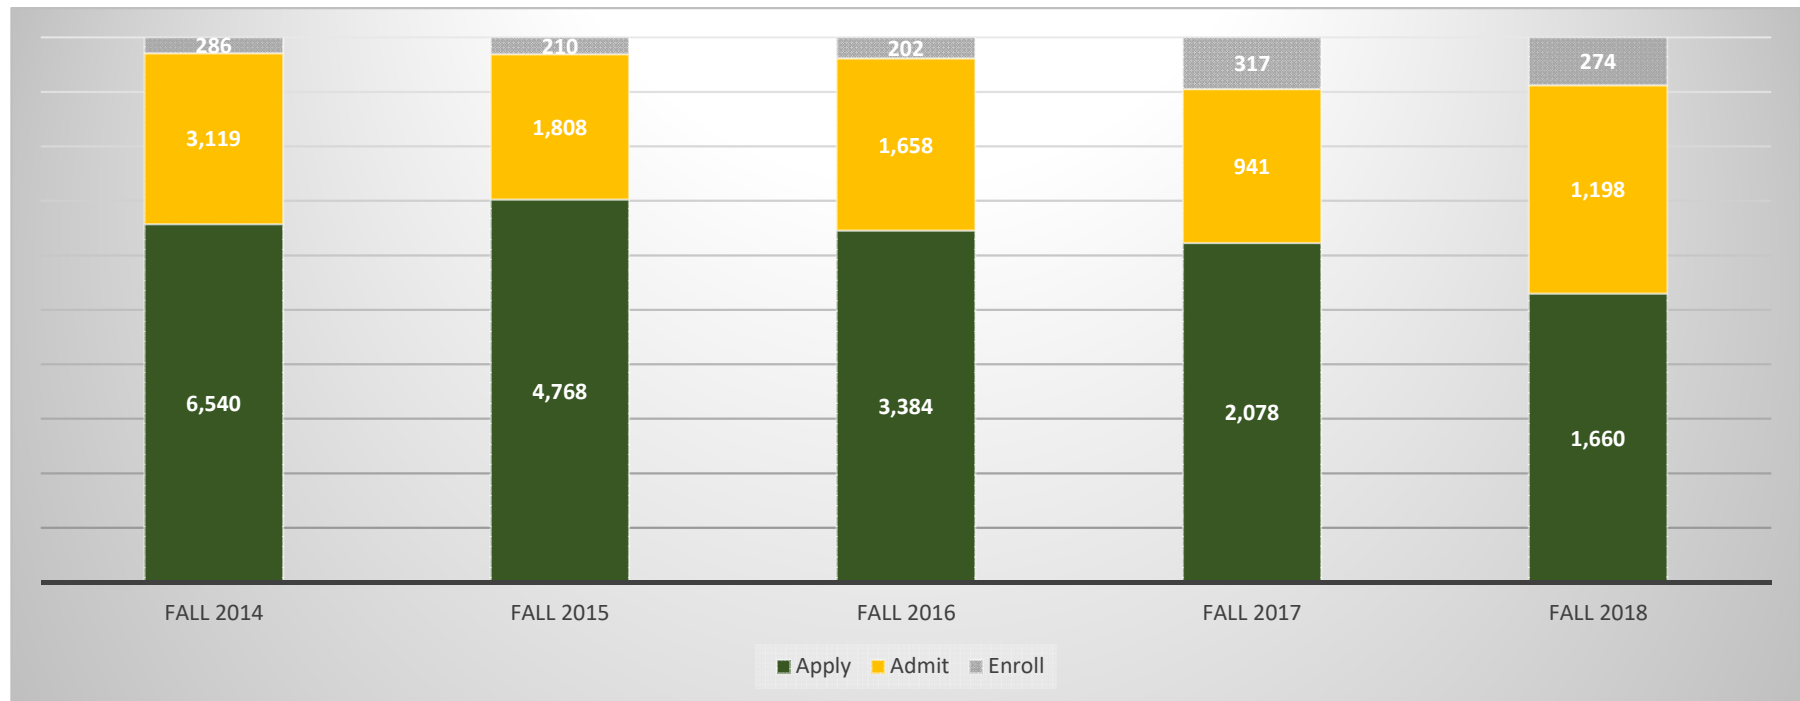

The Kentucky State University Board of Regents voted to approve the creation of The Center for Research on the Eradication of Education Disparities (C.R.E.E.D. Center) to explore solutions to close educational gaps through research, educator training and human engagement.
